

Meet Ilse Wilson; she is the owner, director, master baby snuggler, sledding queen, cook and basically Jack of all trades.

Ilse is a German-speaking, South African native turned American. She has a degree in early childhood education, was the 2016 Utah Early childhood teacher of the year, and 2017 national teacher award winner, also instructs professional Development classes for the Office of Child Care.

She's a mom of two busy boys and business owner of four childcare programs.
